SECTION A : INTRODUCTION

VOLUME II: AGRICULTURAL CREDIT AND CO-OPERATIVES

This volume is part of the Kenya Agricultural Sector Data Compendium which has been developed by KIPPRA with support from the Ministry of Agriculture and in collaboration with Ministry of Livestock and Fisheries Development and the Ministry of Cooperatives Development and Marketing. Volume one presents introduction and general agricultural statistics. Volume two and three presents crop and horticultural production respectively. Volume four presents livestock and fisheries statistics while Volume five presents credit and cooperative statistics. Finally, Volume six presents data on market prices for products and farm inputs.

Volume 'V' comprises of two sections. Section 1 provides data on provision of agricultural credit services in Kenya. The section provides aggregate data on credit provided by the commercial banks and Agricultural Finance Corporation (AFC). Section 2 provides data on credit and marketing activities of rural SACCOs and cooperative societies.

SECTION 1: Credit Services by Commercial Banks and Agricultural Finance Corporation (AFC)

In Kenya, rural finance credit is provided by commercial banks, Cooperative societies, state agencies and non-governmental organizations. Agriculture receives about 10-12 % of total credit disbursed in the country against of 17%.

Commercial banks have traditionally played a minor role in financing rural and agricultural development as they concentrate on commercial farming operations. A large proportion of credit used for rural agricultural development is supplied cooperatives and informal financial sector (IFS).

Agricultural Finance Corporation (AFC)

Agricultural Finance Corporation is a statutory financing institution established through an Act of Parliament (Agricultural Finance Corporation, 1969). AFC was initially established for provision of short and long term financing to a variety of agricultural operations, mainly maize and wheat farming, mechanization and dairy development. Only about 15% of the funding provided by AFC has been used on small-scale farming but the institution has been undergoing restructuring to make it more effective in providing credit services for agriculture and rural development.

Section 2: Cooperatives

The cooperatives in the agricultural sector are relatively well developed. The cooperative movement has been important for mobilizing savings for lending to farmers, procurement of inputs, processing and marketing.

The data in this volume was collected from all districts with active co-operative movement activities. The primary source of data is the district annual reports prepared by District Co-operative Offices, and where possible aggregated at the provincial level to give the Provincial annual report. Prior to 2000, the limited data available has been found inconsistent; hence the data series starts from 2000. Where possible, or in cases where reported data seems inconsistent with other years, the audited accounts of particular societies have been used to verify some of the data sourced from the District annual reports. The data covers both rural SACCO's with credit activities considered relevant for financing agricultural activities. Most rural SACCOs evolved from the old Union Banking Sections (UBS) of District Co-operative Unions which used to provide banking, marketing and accounting services to affiliated primary co-operative societies. Indeed, where the District Unions have collapsed or are dormant, it is most likely that there is no active Rural SACCO.

The data also covers the crop and livestock products performance, gross market sales and net payments to members by co-operative societies for various commodities, as aggregated at the district level. Some of the primary commodities covered are coffee, dairy, pyrethrum, sugarcane, cotton and fisheries. Where production and marketing of various commodities has reduced significantly over the period under consideration, the relevant societies reduce activity to insignificant levels or lie dormant; hence leading to lack of data. The data provided is mainly for active societies.

Loans granted are defined as the total amount of loans given by a rural SACCO to its members in a given calendar year. Loans repaid indicate the proportion of members loan portfolio repaid to the SACCO in a calendar year, whereas outstanding loans reflect cumulative balance of performing loans.

Although the data set was intended to cover all districts in Kenya for the period 2000-2006, data for some districts was not available. Districts without active rural SACCOs or commodity co-operative societies have not been covered. This includes all the districts of North Eastern Province and all in Coast Province except Mombasa. For the Coast Province, the limited credit activity by the 3 hitherto active rural SACCOs ceased in 2003, and has since been dormant. For newly created Districts, the data for earlier years is included in the district from which the new district was carved. For instance, for 2002, Nandi South District data includes data for Nandi North District which was created in 2003.

In the data sheets, a dash (-) implies that data is not available for that particular year. Where data is not available for all items (variables) in a given year, that year is omitted from the relevant Table.
